This passage comes from Book 5 of Caesar's "Gallic Wars." Words in italics are glossed beneath the passage.

1 Erant in ea legione duo viri fortissimi, centuriones, qui primis ordinibus appropinquarent, Titus Pullo et Lucius Vorenus. Hi
 2 perpetuas inter se controversias habebant quinam anteferretur, omnibusque annis de locis summis simultatibus contendebant.
 3 Ex his Pullo, cum acerrime ad munitiones pugnaretur, "Quid dubitas," inquit, "Vorene? Aut quem locum tuae probandae
 4 virtutis exspectas? Hic dies de nostris controversiis iudicabit." Haec cum dixisset, procedit extra munitiones, quaque pars
 5 hostium confertissima est visa irrupit. Ne Vorene quidem tum sese vallo continet, sed omnium veritus existimationem
 5 subsequitur. Mediocri spatio relicto Pullo pilum in hostes immittit atque unum ex multitudine procurrentem traicit; quo
 7 percusso et exanimato hunc scutis protegunt, in hostem tela universi coniciunt neque dant regrediendi facultatem. Transfigitur
 3 scutum Pulloni et verutum in balteo defigitur. Avertit hic casus vaginam et gladium educere conanti dextram moratur manum, 9 impeditumque hostes circumsistunt. Succurrit inimicus illi Vorene et laboranti subvenit. Ad hunc se confestim a Pullone
 0 omnis multitudo convertit; illum veruto arbitrantur occisum. Gladio comminus rem gerit Vorene atque uno interfecto reliquos
 1 paulum propellit; dum cupidius instat, in locum deiectus inferiorem concidit. Huic rursus circumvento fert subsidium Pullo,
 2 atque ambo incolumes compluribus interfectis summa cum laude sese intra munitiones recipiunt. Sic fortuna in contentione et 3 certamine utrumque versavit ut alter alteri inimicus auxilio salutique esset, neque diiudicari posset uter utri virtute
 4 anteferendus videretur.
